DALLAS – APRIL 25, 2009 – American Leather unveils its latest design in cutting-edge convertible sleeping during Spring High Point Market. This breakthrough in convertible comfort has been redesigned to fit a new Queen Plus chaise in all Comfort Sleeper styles, offering even more choice to the consumer for this “best-sleep” sofa sleeper model.

With a reconfigured mechanism that no longer relies on the arms of the sofa to support the track mechanism, this new sofa sleeper is designed to easily fit inside a sectional – making this collection both fashionable and highly functional – day and night.

AMERICAN LEATHER’s award-winning Comfort Sleepers are designed by Robert and Barbara Tiffany, and feature the Tiffany 24/7™, a patented sofa sleeper mechanism design that offers the industry’s most comfortable and innovative convertible sofa bed.

The bed’s solid wood platform design means no bars, no springs and no sagging, topped off with a five-inch foam cushion mattress. The mattress is also now available with Crypton® ticking, a mess-free, stress-free fabric that is stain, moisture and microbial resistant.

“AMERICAN LEATHER has consistently seen great consumer interest in sectional seating that also multi-functional,” says Bruce Birnbach, president. “Offering the new Queen Plus sectional option is a way in which we can take the best-selling Comfort Sleeper, and make it even more revolutionary.”

The new Queen Plus sectional will be available in all Comfort Sleeper styles in any of American Leather’s fabrics, leathers or Ultrasuedes®.
